Then Our "New Peoria" Is What You Want

It has perfect working discs, fitted with dust proof chilled News of bearings, single draw bars that will not gather trash, staggard spoke wheels with 7-inch hub and 3-inch tires, continuous rear bar with truss rod to support seat and keep drill from sagging, direct pressure in year of disc; a feature we claim will make this drill work perfectly in any land suitable for sowing grain and where other drills cannot be operated. A seat in center of drill convenient to lever is also furnished. Drop in and let us show you what this drill can do, and furnish you with the names of a score of satisfied users. One feature of our drill that puts it in a class by itself and makes it superior to all other drills on the market is the "Peoria Disc Shoe." You won't find the disc shoe on any other press drill on earth, the Peoria people have that feature cinched and they are going to hang on to it. If you want to know why we can grow more wheat to the acre after this drill than any other with the same amount of grain sown, come in and let us explain to you the "New Peoria Disc Shoe Drill."

FOR PRESIDENT, WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT. FOR VICE PRESIDENT, JAMES S. SHERMAN. FOR CONGRESS, HON. HARRY BAILEY.

Theodore Roosevelt is the great white plague.—Columbia S. C., State.

A regard for the eternal fitness of things dictates that the Roosevelt campaign book be bound in oilcloth, -Columbia S. C., State.

The Detroit "fan" who threw a "pop" bottle at an unsatisfactory umpire is doubtless a confirmed partisan of the Recall of Judges .-New York Sun.

Boss Flinn cannot convince honest Republicans that he is right in keeping Taft and Sherman electors off the Republican ticket by ridiculing National Chairman Hilles. Flinn is the most insolent boss the State of Pennsylvania has ever had. Even Quay was a gentleman compared with Flinn.

A Tacoma special to the New York World dated September 11, read as follows: "While Colonel Roosevelt's stadium audience last year was 30,000, last night it was 12,000. The Republican primary vote yesterday exceeded that of the Moose and Democrat tickets combined." So there are some regular Repub. licans still left in Washington, notwithstanding the "theft" of her delegates in the Chicago Republican convention?

Those who are in office and want to stay in naturally favor civil service. Those who are out and want to get in naturally oppose it. Those who are out and do not want to get in any political office must admit that private concerns look for officials who have had experience in government. The opponents of civil service seek to get rid of such, on the ground that "they had enough and others should have their turn." That policy would bring a private corporation to bankruptcy .--Cynthiana Log Cabin.

HOW IGNORANCE IS BRED.

This week a father drove into Berea and took two fine boys out of school because he said he needed them to work on the farm.

He little knew what he was doing. He was making them break a term-leave their studies half finishe t. He destroyed fully half the value of their winter's schooling for the sake of the little they could do in about ten

Does it pay to pull bread out of the oven when it is only half baked?

Does it pay to build half a haystack and not top it out?

Does it pay to fence three sides of a field and leave the last side open?

To get the biggest results from schooling one should stay right thru a school year.

But any one can stay a full term. Finish something!—Berea Citizen.

It was George Washington who never told a lie, and now his name is being used to further the political interests of about as hard a set of liars as ever made their habitat in Pennsylvania.

About the only reliable deduction to be made from the Vermont result is that we are in for a warm campaign and that we shall probably have an enormous vote out this fall .-Detroit Free Press.

When the Colonel gets on the stand before the Senate Committee he will have to tell some facts which he carefully hid in his eighteen thousand word letter. And the fact that his friend Clapp is at the head of the Committee will not enable Roosevelt to evade relevant questions.

In Montana Roosevelt declared that he cago, obtained the body of Gen. Lyon would not accept the office of king if it were presented to him. No king in the old country possesses the autocratic power which Roosevelt assumed to himself while he occupied the Presidential office. And no king in the world's history ever exercised the despotic authority which Roosevelt as would show if he were to be elected President for another term.-Williamsport (Pa.,) News.

GEN. LYON'S BODY RECOVERED Graphic Story Related by Dr. Melcher, Who Brought Corpse Out of the Confederate Lines.

Samuel H. Melcher, who now lives at 2327 West Jackson boulevard, Chifrom Gen. Price after the battle of Wilson's Creek and carried it into the Union lines, accompanied by a volunteer escort of confederate soldiers. In his capacity of army surgeon Dr. Melcher was immune from capture and throughout the country. The report disposes imprisonment by the enemy and made his way without trouble to Gen. Price's headquarters, assisted by a friendly certain kinds of trees, the laurel, aspen and colonel. He can speak authoritatively on the much discussed subject of Gen. Lyon's garb at the time of the battle and states that the general was dressed in military uniform. The story of the recovery of the body is told in

Dr. Melcher's own words as follows: "When Col. Sigel's reserve, which had retreated on the Wire road south, halted at the Thompson farm some of the men brought to me Gen. Rains' division surgeon, Smith, who had been captured while coming with help for the wounded. I had him immediately released and we started back on the Wire road in the direction the fighting had taken place to look for wounded. Dr. Smith took the lead through the erly direction until we reached a large | when the kidneys get congested and inflamed confederate emergency hospital, close by a big spring.

"Receiving information that most of the wounded of the last part of the battle were being attended to near the creek, we set out in that direction and help the weakened kidneys. Don't expect were soon in the road crossing over them to get well alone. Bloody hill. The position of the dead on both sides of our path showed how terrible the struggle had been. On each side of the road were dead soldiers, the gray on one side and the blue on the other. After going a short that there were 300 or 400 on both sides of the path.

Upon dismounting at the hospital the first and only person that I recognized was the long haired Col. Emmet McDonald, a young lawyer of St. cessionists. When he was taken at the capture of Camp Jackson in St. Louis he absolutely refused to be paroled and was accordingly brought to the arsenal and held a prisoner.

"As I had occasion several times each day to pass the tent where Mc-Donald was held, I saw him standing in front of the entrance dressed in a sort of French cavalry uniform, with his arms folded, his eyes glistening. his swarthy countenance seeming to threaten vengeance if he should ever be free again. I had never met him and had no ill will, whatever opinion simply touched my cap, and to my surprise he seemed each time to soften a little and touched his in return.

"So, when I saw him step quickly toward me as I entered the confederate camp after the battle of Wilson's Creek, and warmly take me by the hand, I was somewhat surprised. After talking a moment in regard to the wounded he informed me that Gen. Lyon was killed. Instantly I once said: 'Come with me and I'll see.' He went with me directly to Gen. Price's headquarters and, as he had never known my name, he said: wishes the body. I want you to give it to him. He is the only officer who treated me decently in the arsenal.'

"Gen. Price, who was dressed as an ordinary citizen, with no insignia of rank except a black leather belt in which was a small Colt's revolver, held out his hand in a fatherly manner and we clasped hands. Turning to Gen. Rains, he asked if he knew where the body was. Replying in the affirmative, Gen. Rains was ordered to bring it for identification. In perhaps twenty minutes a wagon drove up, and was asked to examine the contents. ered the face of the dead man I at once recognize our general.

"Gen. Rains asked: 'What is your pleasure?' and I replied that I would like to have the body carried to the Ray house.

"As soon as a coffin could be made the body was taken to the Phelps farm. After the body had been on exhibition for several days Gen. Price ordered it buried. This was done Aug. 14 by Col. Snead, who says: 'I buried him by instructions from Gen. Price, and I said as I put him in the ground, "That is the greatest enthusiast I ever saw and the greatest man."' Aug. 22 an undertaker from St. Louis and a party of relatives came and had the body exhumed and it was taken east."

Major Calhoun's life was eventful up to the time of his last illness. He was born in Kentucky and was educated in England and at Heidelberg. Returning to this country at the outbreak of the Civil War, he joined a Union regiment from his native state. He served throughout the war, once being shot in the breast and later losing a leg. He was captured and imprisoned in Libby prison, where he helped to dig the famous tunnel, and was one of those who escaped through it.

The platform upon which Mr. Wi's son is a candidate declares that the Protective Tariff is unconstitutional, and therefore illegal, Mr. Wilson himself has declared that a Protective Tariff is a "restrictive Tariff" and affirmed his belief that the amount of wages should be determined in the 'competive market of the world."

The wage earners of Hamilton county, a great industrial and manufactbring center, are asked to determine which of these two policies they believe in-whether they want the present American standard of wages, or whether they want them to be fixed in competition with the underpaid workingmen of England and Germany and the coolie of Japan and China.

"Cuttlefish methods" to obscure that issue are being made, an attempt to mislead the wage-earner through emotionalism and hysteria, but the one fact that must remain paramount in the mind of the wage-earner on election day is whether he wants to keep the word "pay" in "pay envel-

Do you see how the square cross-rods at top of head and foot beautify this bed? Imagine this design with round tubing in those positions. Would not the result be "ordinary" and monotonous? It is just such details of clever and artistic designing that have made our steel beds so popular. And the very large corner posts with brass caps all combine to make this an unusually artistic bed. Moreover this bed is as good as it looks. Because it is made of drawn steel tubing, very light in weight-extremely strong A child can move this bed with the greatest ease. Come in and see this bed. Then you will realize how good it is.
